Make sure to read until the end to reveal the top sites for football predictions and what they offer. If you are looking for well-researched football tips, here are the websites we recommend you look at. The list is in descending order, so the best soccer prediction sites in the world. #1 Nostrabet - The Best Free Football Prediction Site with Daily Expert PicksNostrabet.comWhen discussing the best free football prediction site, we know Nostrabet is number one. We take great pride in our world-class football tips, which cover a wide range of markets. All tipsters at Nostrabet have years of experience and hand-pick their top selections for each upcoming match. Every betting prediction you will see comes with an in-depth analysis, and you can also find the historical performance of each tipster. Unlike other sites for football predictions, we have experts for all the top leagues, including the English Premier League, Ligue 1, Bundesliga, and more. In addition to checking the tips for all leading football leagues around the world, we have the Nostrabet Tipsters League, a hot option for football fans. This free prediction game allows players to compete for various prizes. People wishing to play have to visit the special page on the site and collect points. #2 Free Super Tips. What we particularly like about this website is that it gives a wide range of tips in terms of available odds. They boast relatively 'safe' recommendations, but they also provide a small sample of bookmakers and calculate the potential returns from each one. Visit Free Super Tips #3 Football Predictions.net - Extensive Match Coverage & In-Depth Previews Football Predictions.net write about so many matches, providing well-organised previews with up-to-date information plus their own prediction. Their dedication to covering so many leagues and competitions means you can really mix up your bets when following their tips. You could perhaps argue the focus is a little more on quantity over quality. However, they still back their fair share of winners. Visit Football Predictions. net#4 SportyTrader - User-Friendly Platform with Multi-Sport PredictionsOne aspect we like about SportyTrader is that the website is aesthetically pleasing and easy to use. They have made it easy to sort tips by competition and by sports, such as basketball, tennis and baseball. The one real weakness of this site is the limited analysis. Many tips (among other sports) come with no analysis at all, and even with football Betting Odds & TipsMany of you will already be aware of Oddschecker, as it is a very useful place for comparing bookmaker odds. What fewer people know is that they have a dedicated tips page that focuses mainly on horse racing and football. Although there is more interest in the former, their football tips are well-written, and tips always feature well-reasoned selections. The only thing really lacking is the depth of coverage. Oddschecker tends to focus solely on the Premier League or the occasional high-profile European match. Alongside horse racing and football, the site also provides tips for golf and even snooker. Visit Oddschecker#6 Football Whispers - Simple Yet Effective Soccer Betting AdviceA quite basic-looking site this one but it is a convenient place if you are after a quick tip. Football Whispers focuses less on showing statistics and more on giving a (small) justification for their tips. Typically, they provide three daily top tips as well as three tips for tomorrow's action, with these being the ones most recommended. They do cover more than this, which you can view if selecting one of the competitions from the top menu. Visit Football Whispers #7 1960tips - VIP Predictions with Paid & Free Betting Insights 1960tips offers a small number of free football predictions. However, to unlock everything they offer, you need to pay for the VIP package. This does not come cheap either at a rate of €66 for 20 days of access. Given the initial outlay involved, it is not suitable for anyone that tends to bet relatively small amounts. For larger-staking players, though, 1960tips does appear to have a decent record, and they claim over 80% accuracy. There is a lack of genuine user reviews online, but if you are keen on trying it out, they do have a cheaper six-day subscription. Visit 1960tips #8 Footy Accumulators - Social Media's Favorite Betting Site for PredictionsFooty Accumulators is one prediction site that has gone from strength to strength over the years. Today they boast a huge social media following and a website that is bursting full of content. One of their big strengths is that they cover a wide variety of markets with their tips. As well as card betting tips, they have a correct score, both halves BTTS, over/under 1.5 goals and more. While the variety is impossible to criticise, the justification for the tips tends to put too much weight on recent form. Visit Footy Accumulators #9 WinDrawWin - Correct Score & Match Result Confidence RatingsWinDrawWin or statistics page is an excellent resource when doing your betting research, but in addition to this, they also provide a long list of football tips. Unusually, all their tips come as a correct score prediction, a market that is far from the easiest to predict. The benefit of this approach, though, is that they, at the same time, are simultaneously making a prediction of the match result and number of goals. Another unique element of WinDrawWin is that they have a level of confidence for each tip, with the highest represented by a 'large' stake. Visit WinDrawWin#10 FootballPredictions.com - Strong Bet of the Day Picks but Needs RefinementThis site does have some decent content, but it could be improved to become one of the very best football tips sites around. One issue is that it is easy to stumble across tips for matches that have already finished. There is also a lot of 'filler' information, such as a write-up about the history of one of the teams/players involved in the fixture. Ultimately, FootballPredictions.com are stronger prediction sites out there, but we do value their 'Bet of the Day' selections. Visit FootballPredictions.com#Bonus: BetensuredBetensured is a website that focuses on more than just football, as their experts specialise in different areas. As with 1960tips, you can access a sample of what is on offer for free, but the bulk of the content is for paid members only. Their experts all claim to have very strong strike rates, so if accurate, it could be a useful resource. Interestingly, BetEnsured is one of the few predictor sites to offer in-play betting tips, something which professional gamblers tend to focus on. Visit BetEnsuredBelow is a gallery with images from all websites on our list ranked 4 to 10, plus the bonus website.SportyTrader.comOddschecker.comFootballWhispers.comFootballPredictions.comBetEnsured.comWhen deciding on our rankings for the best football prediction sites, we considered the factors listed below to calculate a score for each website.Free/Paid - We prefer to see a free football prediction site over a paid one, as it stops punters from having a negative balance before they have even placed a bet. For paid sites, we took into consideration the cost and range of payment plans. User interface - For this, we mainly looked at how easy the site was to use and if tip users could view it hassle-free. Tips diversity - Does the website offer tips across different competitions and/or markets, or is their scope more limited? As we were looking for the best football prediction website in the world, having a wide range of fixtures earned lots of points. Player opinion - Where genuine user reviews were available, did they rate the website highly? Analysis - We prefer to see tips backed up with a well-written analysis that looks at important stats and team news. The following websites provide tips for thousands of matches because predictions are the result of number crunching rather than human analysis. We believe the three sites below to be the best math football tipping sites in the world. #1 PredictZPredictZ.comAs well as providing tips from leagues all over the world, PredictZ also features some highlights on today's tips and tomorrow's tips pages. They offer completely free football predictions, and their site is nicely colour coded, making it easy to distinguish between home/draw/away tips. As well as match results (inc. correct score), users can also search by over/under 2.5 goals rates. Every fixture comes with a correct score tip and an over/under 2.5 goals prediction, although these can contradict one another. For example, you will find many fixtures have a 1-1 predicted scoreline but also over 2.5 goals. Visit SoccerVista#3 Forebet is the leading name. Their coverage spans the entire globe, regularly featuring divisions below the top tier too. Their standard approach for matches is to provide the probability of each WDW result plus a correct score tip. Some matches is to provide the probability of each WDW result plus a correct score tip. Some matches is to provide the probability of each WDW result plus a correct score tip.
larger games, Forebet does include a well-written write-up that justifies their prediction. Visit ForebetWith community prediction sites, regular users have the chance to share their own betting tips and discuss upcoming matches. Here are the leading community betting sites in the world, all of which include free football predictions.#1 NostrabetNostrabet.com Tips from UsersOne great aspect of the Nostrabet community is the number of active users. Due to the activity on the site, so many matches come with several tips from regular members. As we track the performance of each member, this allows us to generate a monthly leaderboard showing the best community tipsters. By clicking on any profile, you can not only see their full performance but also a list of their past and active tips. #2 Blogabetblogabet.comA place where users, you must subscribe or pay a one-off few. As with Nostrabet, there are some members with extremely strong records, as shown by the percentage yields. You can see the yield for each user under their profile photo, and it covers all popular sports, it is well worth checking out. Visit Blogabet 3 OLBGOLBG.comAlthough initially focused within the UK, OLBG has since branched out. This has seen their community grow even further, and it is one that is thriving. For each community tip, you can view the individual user's annual strike rate and profit, plus their short-term profit. It is a website that is particularly big on horse racing tips, but football also receives plenty of attention. OLBG also run a free-to-play tipster competition which dishes out thousands of pounds worth of prizes every month. Visit OLBG#4 BettingExpert. Come excellent function of the website is the ability to filter tips in various ways. Users can apply filters such as language, minimum odds, and minimum tipster rating to find a tip that is perfect for them. One reason so many people get involved here is the regular football-based prediction site in Europe, there are numerous strong options. Here is a short overview of them all, starting with the best football betting prediction site in Europe. Nostrabet, but it is worth adding that it is a place with a strong following in Europe. It is partly why the website supports no fewer than 18 different European languages and has a large focus on European sporting events. Freetips.comA betting tips site that looks at all major sports, although football is its biggest single focus. Includes various tip types, such as daily doubles and correct score accumulators, plus welcome offers to European bookmakers.mrfixitstips.co.ukA real high-quality website that puts plenty of care and effort into every one of its betting predictions. Writers here give a good analysis for each tip, and they largely stick with European football (although golf and horse racing enjoy coverage too). There is not an abundance of tips but still enough for the more casual gambler. Mighty Tips. com Another alternative for a website is focusing on quality rather than quantity. We are impressed with the level of written analysis, and again the focus is very much on European football. Overall, a very professional site and one that publishes its tips in good time before every match.kickoff.co.ukMore data-focused than some other of the best predictor sites in Europe, so ideal for those who like working with numbers and percentages. As well as their own tips, there is also a community of tipsters you can follow. Most tipster predictions are free to view, but you must remember that it can't offer a 100% guarantee you will win.
Some sites, such as Nostrabet, only hire people with a proven track record and tipsters who know what they are doing. This, however, does not mean these people don't make mistakes. Regardless of the predictions you are interested in, be very careful when deciding which ones to trust. Ideally, you should conduct your own research as well and check more than one source. If your opinion and one of the other tipsters align, you can place the bet, but even this won't guarantee you will succeed. Another thing to keep in mind regarding football predictions is that most of the tips will focus on the big football leagues. This won't be an issue for most bettors because they want to punt on them anyway.
Others, however, may have problems, so keep that in mind. With so many daily football prediction websites, identifying a reliable option can be challenging. Paying attention to some of the most common scams among sites that offer sports betting predictions involve stats. Sadly, some platforms commonly provide fake data about goals, bonuses, and many other aspects. Lack of Historical Transparency - If you notice that some football prediction sites that do that is a lot higher than many people think. Not Providing Information About the Tipsters - If you are going to trust someone with your money, you'd better be able to learn more about the person. Aside from offering statistics and a variety of predictions, it's also good to look for a site that will grant you more information about the tipsters themselves. Assuming the site you want to use does not have red flags, check whether it follows some of the best practices. For example, it's always good to access the tipster's previous results. In some cases, you may even find the options to compare tips from different sources. There are many different sources. There are many differences between the free football prediction sites, but most of them will focus on theorem.
same markets. The operators have insights into the most common options people choose when betting. Usually, the tips will be for the following markets: 1X2 - This one is the most common market when we talk about predictions. That is why almost every football prediction website provides tips for the match result - a home win, a draw or an away win.Over/Under 2.5 Goals - All football matches will offer this market because it's the go-to option for a lot of players. Once you choose the best site for over 2.5 goals predictions, you will learn how to make better picks when wagering on this market. Correct Score - Some punters want to bet on the highest odds possible. Therefore, a lot of them choose the Correct Score market. Although it is more challenging, some bettors see the value and prefer it over the Both Teams to Score (BTTS) - Most of the options that a lot of people choose, especially when they can analyze the previous results of both teams. Accumulators - People who want to place bets on more than one match will need to make an Accumulator bet. Consequently, a lot of the sites that offer betting predictions will provide a list of suggestions for matches that can be combined into an ACCA bet. bad patches, so accuracy rates do fluctuate. This is why it is always best to use sites that show historical tips or show the overall prediction website, but it is also worth using some others on our recommended list. Yes, there are lots of apps with football betting predictions, but many are of low quality. Therefore, we recommended sticking with the websites we have highlighted. Although maths predictions have their value, we typically prefer tips with analysis. Not only is it reassuring to see a written justification, but human writers can consider factors that raw data cannot (e.g., injuries, morale or momentum). You could, but you also might not. It is important to remember that even when using the best football prediction site in the world, profit is not guaranteed. We believe what we offer here at Nostrabet is unrivalled as the most accurate football prediction when it comes to betting tips, though, so do not feel obliged to rely on just one site. Although this really depends on the platforms that provide them, generally speaking, the answer is yes. With so many free football predictions online, there's no point using paid analysis when the free information is usually more than enough. You should follow today's football predictions and tips because they can help you make better decisions when betting. Besides learning more about each team, you can often find information about a bonus, a given strategy, and more. The betting exchange features a group of seasoned professionals who offer free selections throughout the year across various leagues and markets. These experts include: Alan Dudman: began his career in football journalism with Clubcall, covering many of the London teams, before moving on to Timeform Radio, where he presented for over a decade at major racing events. Today, he continues to work as a broadcaster and has contributed features to Gambling Magazine, written articles for the Daily Mirror, and is a veteran of Betting. Betfair's football, racing, and reality TV pages. Jack Critchley: Jack has been writing about various leagues and competitions, with a particular focus on all things EFL. In addition to his writing and tipping, Jack is a regular commentation at Stoke City and occasionally takes the mic at Owlerton Greyhound Stadium in Sheffield. Lewis Jones: A freelance sports journalist who contributes to various publications and websites. He compares his betting experiences to the career of a semi-pro footballer—putting in the effort, navigating challenges, and staying hopeful of eventually hitting the big time. Andrew Hughes: A professional gambler and writer with a keen interest in cricket. He frequently provides tips for Betfair's betting section and notably picked "You're Special" at 80/1 during the Cheltenham Festival. Each tip is accompanied by a detailed write-up from the expert offering it, along with the advised odds. Betfair clearly seeks out top-tier betting talent, which is evident in the quality of their content and prediction pages. It's always worth considering their insights before placing your bets on a match, as they strive to predict football matches correctly. 7. Football Edge Football Edge is a prediction service that operates based on a betting algorithm. The algorithm identifies value in football markets and makes accurate football predictions for members accordingly. The basis for including this as one of the best football Edge launched their system in 2019, and the results reported since then have been highly bank. Staking is based on the Kelly Criterion, and the website calculates the stakes for you based on your starting bank. That means staking can become quite substantial in some cases. Most bets are on heavy favorites, meaning they have achieved a high strike rate (win rate) and generally experienced short losing streaks. However, the large stakes sometimes wagered could significantly impact the bank if a few bets in a row were to lose. Bets are placed across European leagues, mainly in the match odds and Asian handicap markets. The results achieved over a span of five years, Football Edge has earned the right to be considered among the top footy prediction sites on the planet. 6. Trade on Sports - Football Trade On Sports apart is its comprehensive football league database known as the "Gamestate App," which covers leagues worldwide. This app meticulously analyzes data from thousands of matches, focusing on the impact of goals—especially early ones—on the flow of football games. For example, an early goal can lead a team to adopt a more open and expansive style of play, while a goal just before half-time can dramatically shift the momentum of a match. Using the extensive data processed by the Gamestate App, the Trade On Sports team has developed a variety of strategies. One notable approach is the Half-Time Overs Bot, which identifies matches with a high probability of at least one goal in the second half, often late in the game. During our live trial of the HT Overs Bot, it generated an impressive £5,120 in profit with £100 stakes, achieving an outstanding 67% strike rate, demonstrating a high frequency of successful bets. Trade On Sports has also created several other strategies, covering various goal markets such as over/under 2.5 goals, laying the draw, and backing the away team as well as pre-matched several other strategies, covering various goal markets such as over/under 2.5 goals, laying the draw, and backing the away team as well as pre-matched several other strategies, covering various goal markets such as over/under 2.5 goals, laying the draw, and backing the away team as well as pre-matched several other strategies, covering various goal markets such as over/under 2.5 goals, laying the draw, and backing the away team as well as pre-matched several other strategies, covering various goal markets such as over/under 2.5 goals, laying the draw, and backing the draw as over/under 2.5 goals, laying the draw, and backing the draw, and backing the draw as over/under 2.5 goals, laying the draw as

Their consistent and strong results have earned them a well-deserved reputation as one of the top football prediction sites in the industry. 5. Sporting Life
One of the UK's longest-running and most well-known prediction resources is undoubtedly the Sporting Life. Originally a hard-copy newspaper, the Sporting Life has been digital-only for quite a few years now. The tipping section of their website was once known as the Betting Zone but has recently reverted to being simply called the Sporting Life.
The football predictions are provided by a team of experts, including Tom Carnduff, Jimmy "The Punt" Cantrill, Jake Osgathorpe, and others. Previously the football tips are available for free on the Sporting Life website, covering matches in the Premier League, Champions League, Europa League, international fixtures, and more. One of their best recent performances was at Euro 2024, where they advised Rodri to win Player of the Tournament at 33/1 and Lamine Yamal to win Young Player of the Tournament at 33/1 and Lamine Yamal to win Young Player of the Tournament at 10/1, both of which landed. What makes the Sporting Life so valuable as a football prediction site is firstly that its tips are free and secondly the depth of their coverage is first class. With everything from outright picks to regular match tips across the Premier League, Championship, Champions League and major tournaments and extras like Super 6 selections, accumulators and special bets, there are few sites with a more comprehensive offering than the Sporting Life. The predictions are normally accompanied by detailed write-ups too so you can see the research and analysis that goes into every pick. It also showcases the expertise of the Sporting Life team which is impressive and makes them worthy of a place on the list of the Best Football Prediction Sites in the World. 4. The Inside Man To be a successful predictor of football matches, having insider knowledge from the bookmaker Fitzdares, eventually becoming their head of football trading. That role gave him the unique experience of working both as a bookmaker and a trader in football markets, generating additional profits for the company. In early 2020, Adam decided to go full-time as a professional gambler, and he has been thriving ever since. Since starting his career as The Inside Man, Adam has made a profit of over 150 points with a return on investment (ROI) of 10%. The strike rate is impressive at 52%, meaning more than half of his bets have been winners. We have been winners. We have been winners to follow, offering 5-10 bets per week, with most selections focused on match odds, Asian handicap, and player passes markets. Overall, The Inside Man is a top-tier football prediction site and one of the best football prediction sites we've encountered in the past few years. 3. Betting Gods, which offers
